COMMEMORATION OF CAROLAN.

The following ballad was sung by Miss Cheese, at the Rotunda, in Dublin; at the first Commemoration of Carolan, in October last.—The words by Mr. Trotter.

Once the harp through the vallies of Erin resounded,
Erin ma vourneen, Erin go bragh!
The shamrock and laurel luxuriantly crown'd it,
Erin ma vourneen, &c.
Sweet was its tone, when pensively mourning,
As bold and as warm when with gratitude burning,
It thrill'd for the heroes from battle returning,
Erin ma vourneen, &c.
But the dark and the dampness of night slowly creeping,
Erin ma vourneen, &c.
O'erwhelm'd its lov'd strains, as Erin sat weeping,
Erin ma vourneen,
Long was that night—the harp no more sounded,
By silence and gathering horrors surrounded,
Lay prostrate, nor told how deeply 'twas wounded;
Erin ma vourneen, &c.

Dark was that cloud, the harp's ruin concealing;
Erin ma vourneen, &c.
Strong was that spell, it soft magic congealing;
Erin ma vourneen, &c.
Till a ray sent from Heav'n, which cheer'd and delighted;
Surely and bright the fallen relic lighted;
And burst the cold bonds of the harp long benighted;
Erin ma vourneen, Erin go bragh!

BY THE LAST MAIL.

CHARLESTON, March 10.

Arrived, sloop Victory, Clark, Havanna, 6 days. Left at Havanna the ship Pierce Manning, Pratt, from this port, just arrived; brig Minerva, Spencer, for this port; brig Fourth of July, Blanck, of this port, from one of the Windward Islands. The brig Mary, Phillips, sailed for this port two days before the Victory; there had been several recent arrivals at Havanna from Jamaica—Captain Clark saw a late price current from Kingston, in which it was stated that the Market was glutted with every article of American produce; flour was quoted at 8 dollars, lumber at 25 dollars, corn at 75 cents per bushel, fish 2 dollars 50 cents. There were a great number of American vessels at Kingston, among them was a brig from Charleston, a sloop from New-York, with a full cargo of staves; and a schr. from Philadelphia, with mahogany furniture, &c. bound for the Spanish Main, which vessel had been detained and sent in, as had several other vessels, under various pretences, for alledged violations of the revenue laws. A reward of 20,000 dollars had been offered by the merchants of Kingston, to any government vessel that would capture the French privateer schr. Superieur, which had made so many captures in those seas. A few days before captain Clark left Havanna, intelligence reached that place from Porto Rico, that there had been an insurrection among the Brigands of that place, who had risen upon the Spaniards and got possession of the island. No late arrivals at Havanna from Old Spain. Capt. C. saw a brig off the bar on Tuesday evening, supposed to be the Mary, from Havanna.

Latest from England.

The ship Savannah, of Bath, arrived at Amelia-Island on Tuesday last, in 42 days from Liverpool—sailed Jan. 22.

The letters and papers by this arrival are from London to the 20th and from Liverpool to the 22d January; the papers however, are not in a regular series, only a few scattering dates having reached us, and the public are indebted for the extracts which we this day furnish, to the politeness of a mercantile house in this city.

The most prominent article of intelligence which this arrival furnishes, is the report contained in all the letters and papers, that a treaty or convention has been arranged at Paris, between our minister at that court, and the French government.—And though we have nothing official on the subject, we think the report derives a degree of strength from the article under the Paris head in this day's Courier.

[See the article under the Paris head, in the Alexandria Daily Gazette of the 12th inst.]

Another change in the ministry was confidently expected, and it was believed that Mr. Canning and lord Melville would take a leading part in it.

A dissolution of the present parliament was an event very generally looked for—in which case it was said that Mr. Canning would be supported as a member of the H. of Commons to represent the city of Liverpool.

The conduct of Mr. Jackson in his correspondence with our government, (we are assured by a gentleman who came passenger in the Savannah) has met with the almost unanimous approbation of his countrymen. It was not expected that another minister would be sent to this country, if Mr. Jackson could not effect the object of his mission.

When the United States frigate John Adams, arrived in England, it was supposed that she had come out to take home Mr. Pinkney, but she had sailed again for France.

The arrivals at the port of Liverpool, from the United States, from the 1st to the 22d of January, had averaged four vessels per day; among them were some from this port

An account of the capture of the island of Bourbon by the British, on the 21st Sept. and the taking of seven ships of war, one of them of 1000 tons, and the whole together, amounting to 3118 tons, had been received in England.

Extract of a letter, received by ship Savannah, arrived at Amelia, to a gentleman in this city, dated

LIVERPOOL, 20*th Jan.* 1810.

"It does not appear, that the refusal to negociate with Mr. Jackson, is considered by our government as a sufficient cause for war, nor do we apprehend that his dismissal from the country would be thought so; but it seems to be gaining pretty general belief, that the American and French governments have made up their difference; and if so, we do not see how this middle state of things between peace and war, can be kept up between this country and America. A greater latitude is said to be given by Bonaparte, both in imports and exports, which was at first represented as a relinquishment of the Berlin and Milan decrees, but we apprehend what is done, is more with the view to embroil us with America, than any thing else, and therefore not likely to tend to the removal of our orders in council, which are the great obstacle to our being friends with America. The first impression, however, was, that the repeal of the orders in council was a certain consequence—and had not the first accounts received here been upon a Sunday, we have no doubt the effect upon the market, in American articles, would have been very great; as it was, a considerable sensation was experienced, which has hardly yet subsided.

"The quantity of American produce known to be coming forwards is so great, that nothing but the expectation of war, or an embargo, will enable the market to support the present prices, which, in most of the leading articles, yield a very handsome profit upon what they can be imported for in a circuitous channel; and the consequence is, that seldom a day passes without some fluctuations. The prices of to-day have been from 20 1-2 to 21 1-2 for Upland Cotton—say 21d for good, fair quality; and for sea-islands, from 2s. 1d. to 2s. 2d. for ordinary and stained; and for middling and fine 2s. 3d. to 2s. 6d. Rice, 30 to 33s."

LONDON, January 12.

We have heard that an American vessel has been brought into Plymouth by one of his majesty's cruisers, having on board a secret despatch from Mr. Armstrong, at Paris, to the secretary and president of the United States. This despatch is stated to be of an interesting nature, and to disclose facts of the highest importance to government. On the news of the vessel being brought in, Mr. Pinkney applied to ministers to allow the dispatch in question to be delivered unopened into his possession.—We have not been able to learn whether he succeeded in his application. The vessel in question was bound from Dieppe to America.

Bonaparte's divorce produced considerable sensation in Germany—There, as well as here, conjecture is busy about his new bride. Some talk of the Queen of Holland, who is for that purpose to be divorced from Louis Bonaparte; others the princess of Saxony, or a grand duchess of Russia—a few say that he is enamored of a young French lady, the daughter of a senator.

For the present Bonaparte has contented himself with seizing part of Holland, the province of Zealand. Accounts from Holland of the 6th state, that a proclamation for incorporating the province of Zealand with France had been received from Paris. The chief civil officer having refused to take the oath of allegiance without a more explicit and formal declaration of so important a change, was, it is said, immediately put under an arrest by the commander of the French troops, and sent to Paris, to account for his contumacy. The possession of the province of Zealand makes Bonaparte master of the mouths of the Scheldt and the Maes, and in fact of the whole trade of Holland.

The Blossom sloop of war is arrived at Yarmouth; she parted with the Baltic convoy in a thick fog four days ago; they were in number about 400. Upwards of 170 were prizes to the Baltic squadron.

January 20.

Some letters have been received from America, by the way of Ireland, by a vessel which left New York on the 13th ult. They state that the acrimony of party has been carried to the highest pitch in the United States, and that several duels had been fought by some of the leaders in the principal factions, in which lives had been sacrificed.

One letter from Ireland, which was transmitted by express mentions the proposal of an embargo to congress by Mr. Giles, and that a bill had been framed for that purpose, which had been read a first time, and for which a day was appointed for the second reading. This letter comes from a most respectable quarter, but notwithstanding the authority on which it rests, the correctness of this statement is very much doubted by all the most considerable merchants here, on the ground that such an event could not have occurred without their being apprized by their correspondents; and by the same ship in which this intelligence is said to have been conveyed. In this situation of things, you must exercise your own judgement and I must satisfy myself with merely pointing out the source of the information.

A gentleman, who was on the 16th ult. at New York, and who has arrived in this city, had no knowledge of any project for reviving the embargo system. A near relation of a member of congress, and a warm partizan of the present government, at Washington, writes on the 11th ult. in total ignorance of the affair.

I have communications, to-day, from the south of Spain, to the 28th ult. and from the north to the 6th inst. My former letters from the seat of the Spanish government, were to the 26th of last month, and spoke in very sanguine terms of the improved state of the patriot armies, and of the ultimate success of the Spanish cause.

An American ship, it is said, with despatches for general Armstrong at Paris, in attempting to go into Havre on the 8th inst. was taken possession of by a French armed ship, and sent into another port. Her despatches were forwarded immediately to Paris, but her crew were not permitted to have any communication with the shore. This circumstance is of itself sufficient proof that no definite arrangement has yet taken place between America and France.

Private accounts have been received from Paris to the 11th inst. A letter of the 10th states, that on the 6th, Bonaparte had a fresh attack of his epilepsy, which was so violent as to occasion considerable alarm for several days. A bulletin of the 9th, however, pronounced him to be rapidly recovering from what was called only a slight cold. Hence, doubtless originated the report of his death, as we mentioned on Thursday. The attack which he had at Schoenbrunn so severely affected him, that he is stated to have been actually deranged for some time.—Globe.

The general opinion at the Thuilleries is, that the grand duchess Anne of Russia is the destined new bride of Bonaparte. It is added, that let "the victim" be whom she may, the jewellers of Paris are preparing the diamonds which are to ornament her person.

Talleyrand is again in great favor with Bonaparte; with whom he has of late had several secret conferences.

French journals have been received to the 10th inst. As to the important subject of the repeal of the Berlin and Milan decrees, the French journals are silent, but of the fact of the relaxation admits of no doubt.—Sun.

The subsequent letter refers to the seizure of American ships, 44 of which had formerly been detained in the neighborhood of the port; but the major part had been released, on the proper applications having been made to the commercial authorities.

"CHRISTIANSAND, Dec. 26.

"In addition to my last information stating to you the several condemnations which had taken place here, I have to subjoin the barque Pacific, and the condemnation, likewise, of the brig Suwarrow.

"This is certainly a very strange and very unjust decision, the neutrality both of the vessels and cargoes being admitted by the court of admiralty. The last was condemned merely on the supposition of having been under a British convoy. It was stated, in the second place, that the crew had refused to sign their names at the first court; and 3dly, that after purchasing her return cargo, had she arrived in safety, the instructions were to remit the surplus to Mr. W. of London.

"The ship North American has been cleared, as likewise the ship Atlantic. I cannot account for this partiality."

NEW-YORK, March 11.

From the Cape of Good Hope.—Captain Le Fort, of the Richmond Packet, who arrived this morning in 63 days, informs us that, from the 9th, to the 20th of January, there were daily, several shocks of earthquake. The inhabitants were greatly alarmed, and removed from their houses to tents erected for the purpose. Many houses were considerably injured.

Previous to Captain L's arrival, a British squadron had made an attack on the Island of Bourbon; took a french frigate of 40 guns called the Bourbon, & a French merchant vessel; retook two valuable company ships, which had been carried into the harbor; and returned to the Cape.

TUESDAY, MARCH 20.

The state of the Country.—When Mr. Jefferson was struggling in every possible mode, to become the great man of this country, one favorite topic of complaint against the federalists, with him and his partizans, was, the lavish expenditure of public money. Offices were said to be too numerous, salaries too high; and the nation was led to expect that if Mr Jefferson could only take the reins of government, that the number of offices would be reduced, and executive patronage thereby greatly lessened. A continual harping on this subject, procured for this man, the fascinating titles of "the people's friend," and "the man of the people."

In process of time, his artifices raised him to the summit of power, and he became president of the United States. We take the liberty to enquire, how far the liberal promises of retrenchment in expences, & of public economy, were realized? Was the salary of his own office lowered, from the sum at which it was fixed in the time of gen. Washington, and Mr. Adams? We have always understood, that Mr. Jefferson very carefully received his twenty five thousand dollars a year, during the eight years that he was president. It must be acknowledged, indeed, that his simple style of living, whilst he was in office, was much commended by his friends. They insisted upon it, that there was solid merit in a president's not having levees, in his wearing a red jacket, and corduroy pantaloons, and in riding without attendants to the capitol, and hitching his horse to the post with his own hands. Had his meekness, and this saving disposition, been accompanied with a corresponding relinquishment of part of his salary, there would have been some plausible ground for the assertion. But to disgrace the office of president, under the show of humility, merely for the purpose of laying up part of the income, the whole of which Gen. Washington spent with the liberality and dignity of a gentleman, would be considered among persons in the common walks of life, as something very unlike virtue.

Have the other great officers of the government, viz. the vice-president, the secretaries of state, the treasury, and navy the attorney-general, post master-general, &c. &c. reduced their salaries, below what they stood in federal times? If we recollect aright, for a short time during the presidency of Mr. Adams, owing to particular circumstances, the salaries of the heads of departments were raised, but not permanently. After Mr. Jefferson came in, and the law providing for this temporary increase was about expiring, it was found expedient by a little finesse, to revive it for another short period, and so it was kept a going, until the people became familiarized to it, and they have been kept up from that time to this.

What has been the state of public expenditures in other respects? It would be a gratifying circumstance, if we could be favored with the true account of "ECONOMY," as practised under Mr. Jefferson. Have our external relations, our foreign intercourse, our diplomatic concerns, cost us less under him, than under his predecessors. What is the state of the army and navy accounts? What has been paid for repairing the inroads which time, mud, and worms, have made upon our frigates, bedded in the east branch of the Potomac, at the city of Washington? What have those ridiculous offsprings of philosophy and cowardice, Gun-Boats, cost the nation? What sums has the renowned Gen. Wilkinson, in the various characters and capacities, in which, by the favor of his master Jefferson, he has been called upon to act, expended from the public treasury? The celebrated account for segars, wine and sweatmeats, will not be forgotten, when this question is answered?

How stands the account of patronage?—Gen. Washington, in his nominations to office, was governed by a sacred regard to the constitution in his nomination, and by merit, talents, and a regard for the public good in the character of candidates. Hence it has happened, that so few instances occured, in which the public received any injury, from the officers appointed under his administration. But, when Mr. Jefferson mounted the Republican throne, he commenced the base work of removing public officers, on the score of political principles; and he followed it with unrelenting vengeance.—His maxim was, that the the officer was the agent of the President, instead of being the agent of the nation, and regardless of character, he soon introduced his agents by wholesale into the places of wiser and better men. What has been the result? The public treasury has been plundered of hundreds of thousands of dollars, which have been squandered by, or gone to enrich his agents. The cases of Edward Livingston, Brown of New Orleans, Clark of Massachusetts, and many others may be named in support of this remark.

Besides, the provisions of the constitution on the subject of appointments to office, have been, by Mr. Jefferson completely evaded, and the guard intended to be fixed in the consent of the Senate, but a little better than repealed. Scarcely an instance among the multitudes which happened, of a removal from the office by Mr. Jefferson, occurred whilst the Senate was in session.

On these points, what has the country gained by the election of Mr. Jefferson?

(Con. Mirror.)

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Bassettere, (St. Kitts) to his friend in Philadelphia, dated Feb. 24, 1810.

"The arrival of the United States' brig Etna, in the West Indies, has given rise to a variety of conjectures, and although the object appeared to be a search for Brown, the ex-collector of Orleans it was not believed to be real. Our beloved Edward Bryan, judge of the vice admiralty court at Antigua (well known for his high regard for the Americans) got into a most violent rage, on account of an American vessel of war having the audacity to anchor in British waters; he would not see capt. Bainbridge, and told Mr J. Rose (the American agent) that if the brig did not depart immediately, he would order one of his majesty's brigs to gallant her out —— Bainbridge came down here from Antigua, and kicked up a terrible noise. Two of his men ran away; and he (very naturally) undertook to search for them; sent his officers on board all the vessels in the harbor (not omitting his majesty's schooner) who presenting his compliments to the different captains desired permission to overhaul their vessels for his men, which I believe they all acceded to.

Not finding them afloat, he came on shore, and assisted by some young men in this town, at last discovered them both asleep in a grog shop, tied their hands behind them, and took them on board his brig, the people here put themselves into a terrible rage, and sent word to admiral Cochran (at Guadaloupe) who immediately despatched two fast sailing brigs in quest of her, with orders to bring her to him, and communicated the same orders to all the vessels of war on this station; we have not yet heard whether either of the brigs have fallen in with her; but have no doubt if they do, it will be the cause of a serious disturbance between the two countries, for I am confident Bainbridge will not surrender unless compelled by force.

Congress of the United States.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY March 19.

[Taken for the Alexandria Gazette.]

Several private petitions were presented and referred.

Mr. Johnson called up the resolution for adjournment.

Mr. W. Alston moved to commit the resolution to a select committee, and that they be instructed to confer with a committee from the senate and enquire what business is necessary to be done before the close of the session. The question was taken by ayes and noes and carried; ayes 75, noes 42. A committee of five was appointed.

Mr. Ross of Penn. had leave of absence from the 25th of this month for the remainder of the session.

An engrossed bill altering the time of holding the district court in the state of Ohio, was read a third time and passed.

The house resumed the consideration of the unfinished business of Saturday, (the bill authorising a detachment of militia.)

Mr. Pitkin moved to amend the bill by striking out the 5th section and introducing a new section.

[The new section directs that within one month after the detachment of 100,000 militia shall be completed, the secretary of war shall be authorised to transmit to the executives of the different states and territories stand of arms to be by them distributed according to the provisions of the act of congress of April 1808.]

The question on striking out was taken by ayes and noes and negatived—Ayes 40—Noes 70.

Mr. Dana moved to amend the bill by adding to the 5th section a clause directing that the detachment of militia from each state and territory shall be furnished with arms equal to the whole number of non-commissioned officers and privates—under the direction of the executives of the different states and territories agreeably to the provisions of the act of April, 1808.

The question on the amendment was taken by ayes and noes, and were—Ayes 38—Noes 67.

Mr. Hale moved to amend the bill by adding a new section—[This section provides that all volunteers who may enter the service completely armed and equipped, and who shall retain the same during the term of enlistment, shall be entitled to receive a compensation in money equal in amount to the value of such arms and accoutrements.] The question was taken by ayes and noes and negatived—Ayes 34—Noes 73.

Mr Pickman moved to strike out the 6th section of the bill. [This section provides that the volunteers, when not in actual service, shall be encamped at least ten days in each year.] He was opposed to this section, because he believed the encampment would not be productive of any good to them as soldiers, and might be very injurious to them as citizens.

Mr. Ely supported the motion and pointed out in a forcible manner, the evils that would result from their encampment being spread over the country, without being amenable to military law.

The ayes and noes on this question were ayes 40, noes 77.

Mr. Key, moved to amend the 4th sect. of the bill, so as to prevent the volunteers and militia when in actual service, from being liable to receive the punishment of lashes.

On the question, the ayes were 105, noes 8.

ORIGINAL
FAMILY MEDICINES,

Prepared by RICHARD LEE & SON,

Have been in high estimation and general use throughout the United States, for upwards of ten years. And, it is no inconsiderable evidence of their utility, that during the above period, numerous imitations of every article, the productions of ignorance and experience, urged by envy and penury, have been intruded on the public, seen for a day, and then perished! Others now succeed them, which in this manner are fast descending to the tomb of the Capulets; while OUR remedies become more generally used, and acquire a daily accession of deserved celebrity.

Lee's Worm-destroying Lozenges.

This medicine is superior to any ver offered to the public, being innocent and mild certain and efficacious in its operations.—Should no worms exist in the body, it will without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders.

Lee's Elixer.

A certain remedy for colds, coughs, asthmas, and particularly the whooping cough, so destructive to children.

Lee's Essence of Mustard,

So well known for the cure of rheumatisms, gout, palsy, sprains, &c. &c.

Lee's Grand Restorative,

Proved by long experience to be unequalled in the cure of nervous disorders, consumptions, lowness of spirits, inward weakness, &c.

Lee's Anti-Bilious Pills,

For the prevention and cure of bilious and malignant fevers.

Lee's Sovereign Ointment for the Itch,

Which is warranted an infallible remedy at one application.

Infallible Ague & Fever Drops,

For the cure of agues, remittent, and intermittent fevers.

Lee's Genuine Persian Lotion,

Celebrated for the cure of ring worms, tetters, &c.

Lee's Genuine Eye Water.

An effectual remedy for all diseases of the eyes.

Tooth-ache Drops.

Which give immediate relief.

Lee's Damask Lip Salve.

Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

The Anodyne Elixir,

For the cure of every kind of head-ache.

The Indian Vegetable Specific,

For the cure of venereal complaints.

These medicines having come into general use, they are frequently purchased not only by Druggists, but by country store keepers to sell again; in order that the purchasers may be confident they have the original genuine medicines; wherever they purchase they have but to observe, that every article of medicine has on the outward wrapper the signature of the proprietors.

THE first number of this valuable Work is just come to hand and is ready for inspection at the store of the subscriber, in King-street, and with Mr. Triplet, at the coffee-house.

Fully aware of the impositions that have been practised upon the public by strangers soliciting subscriptions from distant places; the Editors invite their examination of a Work perhaps the most useful, entertaining as well as extensive in its kind that has ever been undertaken in any country. And they flatter themselves that the American will by no means shrink from a comparison with the London edition, tho' offered at six dollars per Vol. less.

This number may be considered as a fair specimen of the execution of the work, and will be left a short time for examination, before the 2d number is put to press. After this the subscription will be raised to $2 25 each number; and but a few more copies printed than are sufficient to supply the subscribers, that the early patrons of this valuable Work may have a decided advantage—subsequent applications may therefore come too late.

It is also the intention of the Editor to annex to the last number a complete list o names of the subscribers as the patrons and encouragers of useful knowledge, the arts and literature of the United States.
